TODAY:

- What is Orange Shirt Day? The story begins with Phyllis Webstad, an Interior Salish woman from the (Canoe Creek) and (Dog Creek) First Nations. In 1973, when she was six, she was sent to St. Joseph's Mission Residential School in Williams Lake, B.C. She wanted to look nice, so she chose a new orange shirt her grandmother had given her to wear on the first day of school. When she arrived, the people who ran the school took away her beautiful orange shirt and forced her to wear a uniform. Although it may seem minor, that was the start of many things taken away from Phyllis and other children forced to live in that residential school. In 2013, she started Orange Shirt Day as a day for everyone to learn about residential schools and think about the harm done to her and those who came before her.
- Tomorrow is Orange Shirt day at Delview, and you can show your support by wearing orange. If possible, source your shirt from an Indigenous owned business.
